

LIVER HEALTH

NOURISH AND PROTECT YOUR LIVER

Item# SY1170
100 capsules

Your liver performs hundreds of vital functions for you, as a large filter, it removes toxins from the blood. So, taking good care of your liver is essential for overall well-being. This formula contains herbs traditionally used to support and nourish the liver by providing key phytonutrients and support the body's vitality.

Why Liver Health formula?

The liver supports digestion by secreting bile to help break down fat. It controls the metabolism of nutrients and acts as a reservoir for both nutrients and metabolites.

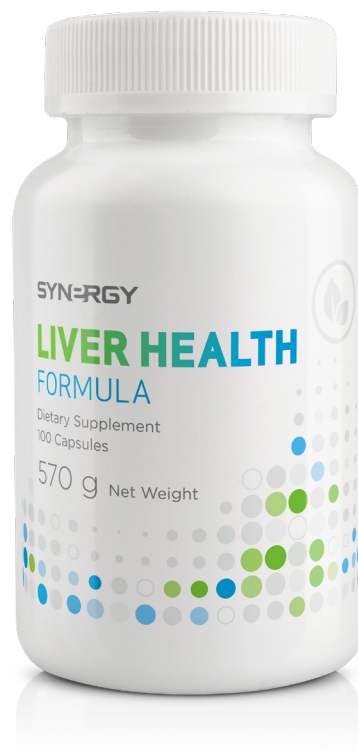

Liver Health features a unique blend of tonifying herbs that protect liver and aid its natural functions including digestion, and healthy glucose and lipid metabolism.

BENEFITS

- Provides nutritional support for the liver.
- Traditionally used to support liver functions.

KEY INGREDIENTS

- Burdock root: Burdock has been consumed as a vegetable, and in the form of an infusion or poultice for home remedies. Recent studies have demonstrated the beneficial effects of burdock, indicating its ability to support digestion and skin health while aiding in glucose metabolism.
- Turmeric root: A common spice well recognized for its health benefits on liver health. As per Health Canada monograph, it is widely used in herbal medicine as a hepatoprotectant, to promote bile production by the liver and stimulate the gallbladder release during digestion. Curcuminoids are the main actives found in turmeric roots. A mounting amount of evidence supports the potential of turmeric constituents and their ability to support body's digestion and appetite.
- Gentian root: Commonly called bitter root, gentian is known medicinally for its bitter glycosides. It is used in Herbal Medicine as a digestive bitter tonic to help stimulate appetite and aid digestion.

- Spirulina: A blue-green alga, well known for its high nutritional value, including protein, vitamins, minerals, and carotenoids. Studies show that spirulina supplementation helps support metabolic health and improve quality of life. Research also indicates that spirulina may assist in vitality, weight control, and sense of satiety.
- Dandelion: Dandelion root is reported to have tonic effects on the liver and gallbladder. It is also traditionally used to nourish the liver, stomach, and blood. Animal studies show that antioxidants in dandelion root help protect the liver.

Liver cleanse also contains other herbs like slippery elm, fenugreek seed and safflower that naturally support appetite, glucose metabolism and lipid metabolism.
